Art Unit: 1724

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: In the specification on page 8 lines 27 and 28 “turning flow a” is not labeled in Figure 6. Appropriate correction is required.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 1 “the plural activation material units” and in claim 5 “the plurality of holders” lack clear antecedent basis. In claim 1 “small lump” is vague and indefinite because it is unclear how this term further limits the claims. Claim 1 is further considered incomplete because it is essential to that the instant device include activation material held in a holder including a retainer, to create turbulent flows of water flowing through the retainer of the holder, which contact the activation material, to activate the water. Claims 2-4 and 6 depend from the above claims.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kakamu et al. 6,103,111. It is submitted that Kakamu et al. appears to disclose (see col. 9 line 11 through col. 11 line 64) the structure of the device recited in the instant claims. It is noted that the inner tubes 114 of Kakamu et al. can be made from plastic material which is considered patentably indistinguishable from the recited insulation material.

Art Unit: 1724

Claim 1 properly written to overcome the above 35 USC 112 rejection, and to include claims 3, 4, and 6, would be allowable.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
